

Post-Election and Biden Administration Support

Save time every day with our comprehensive analysis, presentations, and alerts that will help you sharpen your communications and keep stakeholders informed about the latest political and legislative updates, impacts by industry, and everything you need to know about the incoming Biden administration.

By joining National Journal today, your organization will have unlimited access to all of the following resources.

Presentation Center

LIST IS NOT EXHAUSTIVE

Our analysts will produce editable PowerPoint slides that break down the new power structures on Capitol Hill and in the White House, while helping you explain how new decision-making processes will impact your industry and organization. These materials will allow you to seamlessly update your internal stakeholders about the shifts taking place, while also keeping you and your team up to speed easy to edit visuals on breaking news, major trends, and helpful analysis.

Vignette, by National Journal

In a virtual environment, it is even more challenging to meet new people, build relationships, and set meetings, yet it is also more critical. Vignette, our new people research database, provides in-depth profiles that include personal information to help you truly get to know individuals on a deeper level. Vignette includes profiles on top Biden aids and transition team members as well as existing policymakers and influencers.

Vignette is a searchable database to discover and download profiles on individuals in key roles related to your core issues.

Here are a few of the areas we're covering...

- All members of Congress (including all Freshman members)
- Congressional staffers
- Biden's transition team
- Executive nominees (available within 48 hours of their announcement on a rolling basis, starting January or earlier as announced)
- New Biden cabinet nominees and senior WH staff
- Other senior Biden administration officials
- State-level officials
